PACGEN EXPANDS PAC-113 LICENSE

Vancouver, BC, Canada (January 30, 2012) – Pacgen Biopharmaceuticals Corporation (“Pacgen” or the “Company”) (TSX-V: PGA) announced today that the Company has signed an amendment to its license agreement with Demegen, Inc., to expand its exclusive worldwide rights and license to PAC-113 for additional indications, including vaginal, dermatological and ophthalmic applications. There was no payment associated with the amendment license agreement. All other terms of the license agreement remained unchanged. Pacgen has right to sublicense all these additional indications as well as oral indications covered in its original license.

Dr. Ming S. Liu, Chief Executive Officer of Pacgen reports “We are currently focused on strengthening our technology portfolio and have undertaken a number of business initiatives, with the expanded PAC-113 license being one of them. Antimicrobial peptides are known to have potent broad-spectrum antimicrobial activities against a wide range of microorganisms including bacteria, protozoa, fungi, and yeast. We believe PAC-113 has potential for a number of important hygienic and medical uses. The extensive safety data package together with the expanded PAC-113 license rights will allow Pacgen to pursue broader business opportunity.”

PAC-113 is a 12 amino-acid antimicrobial peptide derived from a naturally occurring histatin protein found in human saliva. This peptide alters the permeability of fungal cell membranes causing cell death. In June 2008, Pacgen announced positive results from its Phase IIb clinical trial demonstrating that PAC-113 is effective in the treatment of oral Candidiasis and compares favorably to the efficacy demonstrated by Nystatin, a current standard of care.
